THE FAMILY OF HENDRICK COCK OF AMSTERDAM

BY JOHN BLYTHE DOBSON*

THE FAMILY OF HENDRICK COCK OR COCKS OF AMSTERDAM, to which belonged Anna Cock, mother of the New Netherland immigrant Wolphert Webber and maternal grandmother of the New Netherland pastor and poet Ds. Hendricus Selyns (1636–1701), has already been treated at least five times in print, four of these in the pages of THE RECORD. One of Hendrick's daughters married a Lenaerts, and while preparing articles on that family I inadvertently came across several Cocks descendants whose existence does not seem to have been previously recognized.<sup>1</sup> While they themselves had no connection with the New World,<sup>2</sup> the long-sustained interest in this family justifies recording their existence in print.

The first of the five articles, by John Reynolds Totten, made a good, if somewhat tentative, beginning.<sup>3</sup> But the second article, by the subsequently notorious Louis P. De Boer, enjoys the rare dishonor of having been afterwards repudiated by the editor who had accepted it (John Reynolds Totten).<sup>4</sup> The next article was, happily, from the pen of the era's finest Dutch American genealogist, William J. Hoffman, and set the matter on a much firmer foundation.<sup>5</sup> More than forty years later, there followed a valuable piece by George Olin Zabriskie that, among other things, resolved some lingering vagueness in the chronology.<sup>6</sup> More than thirty years later still, Frans C. M. Gouverneur, in the first of the items under consideration not published in THE RECORD, incorporated several pertinent extracts from wills and church

<sup>2</sup> Despite their shared associations with the city of Leiden, there is no apparent relationship between the present family and the Cocq family of New York treated by William J. Hoffman in "A 'Tumult of the Merchants' of New York in 1698," RECORD 74 (1943): 96–100.

Hoffman's Seljns Family Notes," RECORD 63 (1932): 119–30, which is both a favorable comment on the article of Hoffman cited below, and a scathing indictment of De Boer's work. registers, and greatly expanded the scope of the treatment to include many descendants who remained in Europe.<sup>7</sup> Finally, John Michael Montias's posthumously published database of seventeenth-century art inventories incidentally helped to reveal the existence of a thereto unsuspected branch of the family, although Montias does not appear to have recognized the significance of the discovery, and did not situate it within the context of earlier literature.<sup>8</sup>

The present article integrates these earlier findings and augments them with material drawn from heretofore inaccessible sources. In the interest of conserving space, it does not attempt to supersede entirely any of the accounts by Zabriskie, Gouverneur, or Montias, particularly of the female descendants in such families as Webber and Selyns. In the genealogical summary which follows, I mention only briefly the children who have already received adequate treatments in previous publications.

GENEALOGICAL SUMMARY<sup>9</sup>

1. HENDRICK<sup>1</sup> COCK, of Amsterdam, schorteldoekverver (cloth dyer) was born say 1544–1549 (marriage in 1569),<sup>10</sup> and died between 1595 (the earliest possible date of conception of his youngest-known child) and 1602 (when his widow purchased shares in the Dutch East India Company).<sup>11</sup> He reportedly married 20 July 1569 in the Oude Kerk, Amsterdam, NIESJE SELYNS, who was born 25 August 1551 and died 4 November 1617, the daughter of “Jean” Selyns and Niesje van Ryckels.<sup>12</sup> An unpublished family record of Hendrick's grandchildren through his daughter Maria Cocks and her husband Hans Lenaerts (made by Maria's son Hendrick Lenaerts) mentions “Grandfather Hendrick Cock” as a sponsor at the baptism of Hester Leonardts, born 15 August 1594, and “Grandmother Agneta Cock”<sup>13</sup> as a sponsor at the baptism of Agneta Leonarts, born 3 February 1605.<sup>14</sup> In 1602 Agneta Kocx, widow

<sup>9</sup> Most members of this family remained in Europe, and therefore the usual American system of numbering generations has not been used. Instead, numbering begins with the earliest known ancestor.

<sup>10</sup> Gouverneur, “Dutch Origins” (note 7), 9:81, also says he was born about 1544, probably an estimate based on the year of his marriage.

In addition to the print literature, see the commentary in the “Montias Database” (note 8), [anonymous], inventory no. 789, lot 43, Mr. Henrick Cock, buyer (<http://research.frick.org/montias/browserecord2.php?action=browse&recid=1974#A0043>).

This item was known to Gouverneur, although he did not quote the date of death for Niesje Selyns which it supplies. Also see Zabriskie, “Anneke Jans” (note 6), 161, 163, and Gouverneur, “Dutch Origins” (note 7), 81. Regarding the marriage date, Zabriskie specifically wrote “7 September [not 25 July] 1569.” Gouverneur lists the 7 September date, citing Zabriskie, and the 25 July 1569 date, citing “Familie-aanteekeningen Selijns en aanverwante geslachten,” which shows a marriage date of 20 July 1569. The marriage was not found in the records of the Oude Kerk, Amsterdam, 1568–1570 (Family History Library [FHL] #113,353).

<sup>14</sup> Mr. Simon Emtinck, Lenaerts Genealogy, fo. 16vo, MSS Accession Number 3401, Folios 14–44, Archives of the City of Brussels, Brussels, Belgium. The manuscript in Brussels is a nineteenth-century transcription of Emtinck's work. Staff at the Gemeente Amsterdam Stadsarchief have been unable to locate the original records from the citation given by Van Dillen (see Het oudste aandeelhoudersregister [note 11], 228). Emtinck (1676–1752), a great-grandson of Hans Lenaerts and Maria Cocks, may also have of Hendrick Kock, purchased f4,800 worth of shares in the Dutch East India Company.<sup>15</sup> In 1617 “Agneta Cock” intervened in an attempt to prevent the marriage of her underage son Hendrick to a woman much older than himself.<sup>16</sup>

“Niesgie Salyns, weduwe wylen Hendrick Cocks,” made a will, dated 1 February 1606, in which she named her [five living] children Marritgen, Annetgen, Niesgen, Sara, and Hyndrick, and then in a separate clause, named “soon Jan Cocks zal,” her son Jan Cocks, deceased.<sup>17</sup> A second will of 25 May 1610, likewise made a considerable time before her death but not subsequently altered, names “her only and universal heirs: Marritgen, Annetgen, Saaretgen Coch, as also Hendrick, her four children,” and makes provision in case “Hendrick Coch, her son, should at any time depart this world, without leaving legitimate issue from his body.” She appointed as executors her three sons-in-law, Hans Lenards [husband of Maria], Wolfert Webber [husband of Anna], and Justin de Beyer [husband of Sara].<sup>18</sup>

According to Montias, “On 5 August 1625, Wolfert Webber [husband of the daughter Anna Cock] accepted the guardianship over the minor children of Hendrick Cock I and Niesgen Jans, who included Anneken Cocx.”<sup>19</sup> The original records cited in support of this statement have not been examined, but this guardianship cannot possibly have applied to any of the children of Hendrick Cock and Niesgen Jans, who could not have been minors at so late a date. It seems likely Montias was thinking of their grandson Jan Cocq de Pinelle, whom he discussed immediately afterwards and whose father was deceased.

The names of Hendrick Cock and Niesje Selyns’s first four children include those of her parents (Jan and Niesje [Agnies]), as well as Maria and Hendrick, the last being reused three more times after successive bearers of the name died in infancy. This strongly suggests that Hendrick Cock’s parents were named Hendrick and Maria.

Hendrick Cock and Niesje Selyns had seven sons and six daughters,<sup>20</sup> but to date only eleven of their children have been identified. Baptisms of the treated the Cock family somewhere in his vast and still largely uncalendared writings. Emtinck seems to have been a scrupulous copyist, for he specifically marks any explanatory phrases of his own to distinguish them from the texts of the documents he quotes.

<sup>18</sup> This will is probably best known from Totten’s 1926 article (note 3), 24n, which includes a transcription of an abstract of the will that appeared in the genealogical department of the Boston Transcript of 24 April 1905 (Boston Transcript Genealogy Columns, June 6, 1896–April 30, 1941, microfiche [Middletown, Connecticut: Godfrey Memorial Library, ca. 1988]). However, a transcription had earlier appeared in Sarah Bogardus Fickett Ker-Hager, Genealogy, History, and Verse (New York: n. pub., 1900), 16–22, where mention is made of a copy of the will “in the possession of John H. Fonda, President of the Union Association of Heirs of Harlem, Anneke Jans, Bogardus, Edwards and Webber Estates.” While there is no reason to doubt the will existed, it is now evidenced only by these English derivatives, as a search made by the staff of the Gemeente Amsterdam Stadsarchief in December 2010 failed to produce any trace of it.

first ten children were in Amsterdam, and all except Abraham's were in the Oude Kerk:

- i. MARIA<sup>2</sup> COCK, baptized as "Maritgen" 1 June 1570;<sup>21</sup> died in the latter half of 1627;<sup>22</sup> married (intention 6 November 1593 in Amsterdam) HANS LENAERTS of Amsterdam,<sup>23</sup> spice merchant,<sup>24</sup> born 1569–70 (aged 23 at his marriage),<sup>25</sup> reportedly in Liège, and said to have died in 1624. He was the son of Lenaert Lenaerts of Cologne, likewise a spice merchant, by the latter's wife Margaretha van Sassenbroeck. Maria and her husband, who each served as sponsors at Cock family baptisms, had twelve children baptized in Amsterdam between 1594 and 1612.<sup>26</sup>
- 2 ii. JAN<sup>2</sup> COCK, baptized 5 May 1572; died 1604–6; married (intention 4 November 1600 in Amsterdam) URSUL VAN HERSBERGHE.
- iii. AGNIES<sup>2</sup> COCK, baptized 7 November 1574;<sup>27</sup> died by 1577, when another child was baptized Nies.
- iv. HEIJNDRIC<sup>2</sup> COCK, baptized 4 January 1576;<sup>28</sup> died by 1581, when another child was baptized Hijndrick.
- v. NIES<sup>2</sup> COCK, baptized 14 April 1577;<sup>29</sup> died 1606–10 (between the making of her mother's two wills).<sup>30</sup> She is mentioned in her mother's first will of 1606, but her marital status is not apparent. Gouverneur notes the possibility that she could have been the "Agnieta Kock" named as the first wife of Daniel Mitz from Keulen, on the occasion of his betrothal as a widower on 26 December 1609 to Maria de Marez, aged 19 years, residing on the Warmoestraet, daughter of Abraham de Marez and Maria Geenmar,<sup>31</sup> and granddaughter of Jan de Marez and Jenne van Achterhout.<sup>32</sup> While the suggestion is credible, no evidence has been found to verify it. Agnieta Cock and Daniel Mitz do not appear to have been married in either Amsterdam or Cologne, and he is not named in a collection of nearly contemporary genealogical records of a Mitz family of Cologne.<sup>33</sup> However Nies<sup>2</sup> Cock and Daniel Mitz certainly moved in the same social circles, as indicated by their mutual connections with the de Marez family.<sup>34</sup>

<sup>31</sup> Gouverneur, ("Dutch Origins" [note 7], 87n89) reads this name as Maria Govers, but this record was earlier quoted in H. J. Koenen, "Het geslacht de Marez," pt. 4, De Wapenheraut 2 (1898): 73–88, at 81, along with other records which corroborate the mother's name as Gemart. According to Koenen's account, Daniel Mitz was born at Cologne on 20 August 1582; however his baptism does not appear in any of the surviving records of the Protestant churches of Cologne. Daniel Mitz (whose surname often appears as Mits) and Maria de Marez had thirteen children baptized in Amsterdam between 1610 and 1633.

Hendricus Selyns, another New Netherland settler.<sup>40</sup>
- vii. HIJNDRIK<sup>2</sup> COCK, baptized 17 November 1581;<sup>41</sup> died by June 1588, when another child was baptized Hendrick.
- viii. HENDRICK<sup>2</sup> COCK, baptized 9 June 1588;<sup>42</sup> died by 1596–97, when another son was given the same name.

- x. ABRAHAM<sup>2</sup> COCK, baptized 7 March 1593 in the Nieuwe Kerk;<sup>43</sup> died by 1606, as he is not named in his mother's first will.<sup>44</sup>
- 4 xi. HENDRICK<sup>2</sup> COCK/COCQ, born 1596–97; died between 1618 and 15 June 1623; married 12 January 1617 in Nyon, Switzerland, ANNA PINELLI-BORZONI-SAVELLI.

2. JAN<sup>2</sup> COCK (Hendrick<sup>1</sup>) was baptized 5 May 1572,<sup>45</sup> and died 1604–6 (between the conception of his son and making of his mother's first will).<sup>46</sup> He married (intention 4 November 1600 in Amsterdam) URSUL VAN HERSBERGHE from Brugge, who was born 1573–74 (aged 26 at her betrothal),<sup>47</sup> and was alive in 1604 (birth of her son). At her betrothal she was accompanied by her uncle Jan Rogiers and her sister Claerken van Hersberghe, wife of Peter van de Venne.<sup>48</sup> Jan's widow remarried 8 May 1607 (intention 11 April 1607) in the Nieuwe Kerk, Amsterdam, Abraham Keuvers, widower of Maaïke Goossens.<sup>49</sup>

Definitive contemporary proof of the marriage of Peter Lenaerts to Maria de la Court, missing from the extant church register, is supplied by Rudolf Löhr, ed., Protokolle der hochdeutsch-reformierten Gemeinde in Köln von 1599–1794, 4 vols., Inventare Nichtstaatlicher Archive 20, 24, 27, 33 (Köln, Rheinland-Verlag; Bonn: In Kommission bei R. - 5 ii. HENDRICK<sup>3</sup> COCK(s), baptized as “Heijnrich” 21 November 1604 in Amsterdam; probably alive in 1667; married 13 November 1627 SUSANNA BARENTS (BEUNS).

3. SARA<sup>2</sup> COCK (Hendrick<sup>1</sup>) was baptized 21 March 1591<sup>51</sup> and probably died after 17 July 1648, when she was probably the “Juffr. Sandra d’Outer” (that is, the elder) who served with Peter J. Beier as a baptismal sponsor to Melchizedeck, son of Sara’s probable daughter Susanna de Sandra and Jan Cocq de Pinelle in Maarssen in Utrecht.<sup>52</sup> She married first 18 August 1609 (intention 18 July 1609) in the Nieuwe Kerk, Amsterdam, JUSTINUS HENDRICKSZN DE BEIJER, from Nijmegen in Gelderland, who was born 1579–80 (aged 29 at his betrothal),<sup>53</sup> son of Hendrick de Beyer, Burgemeester (mayor) of Nijmegen, and Fridolina Gaymans.<sup>54</sup> Justinus was still alive on 21 May 1610 when he was appointed an executor of the second will of his mother-in-law,<sup>55</sup> but died by 1614 when his widow remarried.<sup>56</sup> On 9 May 1610 he served as a sponsor at the baptism of his wife’s nephew Daniel Leonarts.<sup>57</sup> Sara married second 24 November (intention 6 November) 1614 in the Nieuwe Kerk, Amsterdam, DR. MELCHISEDECH (DE) SANDRA of Leiden, who was born 1587–88 (aged 27 at his betrothal),<sup>58</sup> and died by 1627, by which time the settling of his estate had been completed.<sup>59</sup> He was the son of Johan Sandra and Susanna de Marez (daughter of Jan de Marez and Jenne van Achterhout).<sup>60</sup> As “Melchisedech Sandara,” aged 19, he matriculated as a student in philosophy at the University of Leiden on 18 February 1606.<sup>61</sup> He apparently completed his thesis under Prof. Gilbertus Jacchæus in 1608,<sup>62</sup> and matriculated again as “Melchisedec Sandra, Amsterodamensis,” aged 28, student (presumably toward the doctoral degree) in theology at the University of Leiden on 12 June 1617.<sup>63</sup> Whether he actually completed the degree in theology is not known but, somewhat unexpectedly, the minutes of the university senate record that he defended a doctoral dissertation and was awarded a degree in medicine in April 1624.<sup>64</sup> Dr. (de) Sandra may have taught at the university, for he is referred to as a “member” thereof in a proceeding brought against his estate by his stepson Hendrik de Beyer in 1626 or 1627.<sup>65</sup>

<sup>60</sup> Gouverneur’s extract of the marriage intention (note 56) mentions “Jean Sandra, his father.” This Jan Sandra and his wife Susanna de Mares made a joint will dated 16 August 1594 at Amsterdam before the notary J. Gijsberts, in which they named their son Melchisedech; see de Roo van Alderwerelt’s De Sandra entry in “Vragen en Antwoorden” (note 34), cols. 70–72, at cols. 70–71. For Susanna de Marez’s parents see Koenen, “Het geslacht de Marez” (note 31), 37–40, at 39–40; 61–64, at 62. Note that while Melchisedech (de) Sandra was unquestionably an uncle of the Hendrick de Sandra who figures in these notes (Part 2), he and his probable daughter Susanna were rarely recorded with the de infix as part of their name, even in latinized records such as that of his university registration.

Known issue of Sara<sup>2</sup> Cock and Justinus Hendrickszn De Beijer:

- i. HENDRICK<sup>3</sup> DE BEYER, born probably between 1610–14 (between his parents’ marriage and his mother’s second marriage); died after 17 July 1643 when he served as a baptismal sponsor to his mother’s grandnephew Hendrick Cocq de Pinelle;<sup>66</sup> married probably by 1639 (baptism of first child) ANNA DE WITTE.<sup>67</sup> Hendrick served as a baptismal sponsor to his mother’s grandnephew Hendrick Petry Cock in 1640.<sup>68</sup> He and Anna had the following issue, all baptized in Amsterdam:<sup>69</sup>
  - a. JUSTINUS<sup>4</sup> DE BEYER, baptized 8 February 1639 in the Nieuwe Kerk, with sponsor Hans de Witte;<sup>70</sup> died by March 1641 when another child was baptized Justynus.

The proceeding is described as “Materials concerning a lawsuit by the guardians of Hendrik de Beijer against his stepfather Dr. Melchisedech Zandra, member of the University, concerning the division of property, 1626–1627.” Another reference to what is possibly the same proceeding appears in G. J. W. de Jongh, Inventaris van het archief van het geslacht Mackay van Ophemert en aamverwante geslachten, 1370–1968 (1994) (Den Haag: Nationaal Archief, 2010), 146, digital image online, Nationaal Archief (http://www.nationaalarchief.nl/toegangen/pdf/NL-HaNA\_2.21.115.ead.pdf). There the description reads: “Materials concerning a proceeding between Melchisedech Sandra, as spouse of Sara de Cock, previously spouse of Justinus de Beyer, and Johan de Beyer, as guardian of the child of Justinus, over the inheritance of Hendrik and Justinus de Beyer.” The wording suggests that Justinus de Beyer left only one child.

<sup>69</sup> Regt, “Apocrief gedeelte der genealogie van Het Geslacht De Beyer” (note 54), 420–21 also lists a daughter Sara de Beyer, wife of Jean Hellemont [Hellemont], without further detail and without citation of a source. Considering that the Hellemont children were all baptized as Lutherans rather than as Calvinists, and the absence of any recognizable member of the Cock family among their sponsors, Sara’s placement in this family seems doubtful. Known issue, all baptized in the Evangelisch-Lutherse Kerk, Amsterdam: (a) Anna Helmont, bapt. 4 Sept. 1675, child of Johannes Helmont and Sara de Bey [sic], with sponsor Tryntie Helmont; (b) Hendrikus Helmont, bapt. 4 June 1679, child of Jan Hellemont and Sara Hellemont, with sponsors Claas Dansdorp and Tryntie Hellemont; (c) Hendrick Helmont, bapt. 24 Jan. 1687, child of Jan Helmonts and Sara de Beyer [sic], with sponsor Lysabet Bulsingh (Amsterdam Baptisms [note 50] 159:11, 163:68, 171:61).

- b. JUSTYNUS<sup>4</sup> DE BEYER, baptized 28 March 1641 in the Oude Kerk, with sponsors Heindrich Hans Cock and Susanna Sandra, likely the father's half-sister;<sup>71</sup> died by October 1642, when another child was baptized Justinus.

4. HENDRICK<sup>2</sup> COCK/COCQ JR. (Hendrick<sup>1</sup>), of Amsterdam, spice merchant,<sup>77</sup> was born 1596–97 (aged 20 in December 1616), and died between 1618 (when his youngest-known son was conceived) and 15 June 1623 (when his widow remarried). According to an old family manuscript he married (as her first husband) on 12 January 1617 in Nyon, near Geneva, Switzerland, ANNA PINELLI-BORZONI-SAVELLI<sup>78</sup> (known simply as PINELLE in Swiss and Dutch records). Anna was born 1583–84 (aged 33 in December 1616), presumably in Geneva, and died 26 June 1638 in Maarssen.<sup>79</sup> Anna was a daughter of a Genevan nobleman, Antonio Pinelli-Borzoni-Savelli, by his wife, Catherine Godot or Gaudot, from Lyon.<sup>80</sup> Anna married secondly (as

This manuscript is the only source found that specifies a precise marriage date. The Registres de la Compagnie des pasteurs de Genève (note 16) 13:3–4, 32–33, 275, 276–77, prove that the marriage took place between 10 and 16 January 1617, and was performed by a bailiff.

<sup>79</sup> J. van der Hammen Nicz., "Constantijn Daniel van Renesse (1626–1680)," Taxandria 17 (1910): 221–30, at 222, refers to her as having been "buried in the church of Maarssen in the grave of her first husband" (die in de Maarssensche kerk in het graf van haren eersten man begraven werd). However, if there was ever a monument to her or her first husband at Maarssen, it is not among the few surviving ones recorded in P. C. Bloys van Treslong Prins, Genealogische en heraldische gedenkwaardigheden in en uit de kerken der provincie Utrecht (Utrecht: A. Oosthoek, 1919).

On her father's matriculation as a burgher of Geneva on 16 April 1562 he is recorded simply as "Anthonio Pinello, son of the late Jehan Baptiste [Pinello], of Geneva in Italy" (Alfred L. Covelle, Le Livre des bourgeois de l'ancienne republique de Genève [Genève: J. Jullien, 1897], 271. "Anthonio Pinello, filz de feu Jehan Baptiste, de Gennes en Italie"). However, he must have actually used his other surnames if only occasionally, as they are evidenced in family records preserved by descendants of his daughter Marguerite (1579/80–1641), the second wife of the distinguished physician Dr. André Bonet of Geneva. See J. A. Galiffe, Notices généalogiques sur les familles genevoises, 7 vols. (1829–1836), 3:65, and "Théophile Bonet," in Joseph-François Carrere, Bibliothèque littéraire historique et critique de la médecine, 2 vols. [unfinished] (Paris: n. pub., 1776), 2:51. Some earlier history of the Pinelli family, but not specifically of this branch, will be found in Stacey Grimaldi, "Notices of the Pinelli Family," Gentleman's Magazine 6 (1836): 483–84, reprinted in his Miscellaneous Writings (London: [privately printed], 1874), 193–94. De Boer's 1926 account of Hendrick Cock is a jumble of erroneous guesswork, and should be disregarded. Totten, Zabriskie, and Gouverneur take an agnostic approach to De Boer's account and do not discuss Hendrick further. But recently published details of the controversy surrounding Hendrick's marriage point unmistakably to his having reached adulthood. At only 20, Hendrick was well under the age of majority of 25 years, and Anna some thirteen years his senior, when in December 1616 the couple declared to church authorities that they had exchanged promises of marriage. Because of the objections of the would-be groom's mother (who charged that Anna had seduced him), the church refused to give its consent, even after Hendrick claimed to believe that Anna was pregnant.<sup>83</sup> Despite an interdiction by the Supreme Consistory of Berne, reiterated to its dependencies in several neighboring cities including Nyon on 10 January 1617, church authorities learned six days later that the marriage had in the meantime been performed there by a bailiff. The authorities were incensed, Hendrick was excommunicated, and the newlyweds had to pay a fine before being allowed to return to Geneva.<sup>84</sup> By the following spring they had left the country and were living in Amsterdam.<sup>85</sup>

While it was known that Renesse had a stepson named Johannes Cocq de Pinelle,<sup>86</sup> it remained for Montias to supply the clues that allowed identification of Anna's first husband. Records of the Amsterdam Orphan Chamber, Milanese art house Finarte in 2007 bears an inscription on the reverse which reads in part: "Marguerite, daughter of Antoine Pinelli Borzoni, noble of Geneva, a member of the twenty-eight ancient families [that is, the so-called Alberghi of Genoa] recognized as noble by the decree of Andrea Doria in 1527, and of Demoiselle Gaudot of Lyon, married on 30 January 1572." ("Finarte," Arcadja Auction Results (<http://www.arcadja.com/auctions/fr/finarte/maison-de-vente/10250>). The site includes a color reproduction of the portrait and a transcription of the identification supplied on the reverse. Antonio's father, Giovanni Battista Pinelli-Borzoni, of Genoa, had married a member of the noble family Savelli of Rome, and it is said that either Antonio or his father had a brother who was a cardinal in the Roman Catholic church. This statement can be traced as far back as Louis Moréri, Le grand dictionnaire historique, ou Le mélange curieux de l'histoire sacrée et profane, 18th ed., 8 vols. (Amsterdam: Chez P. Brunel, 1740), 2:338, col. b.

<sup>81</sup> He is treated in a number of biographical dictionaries, of which the best are P. C. Molhuysen and P. J. Blok, eds., Nieuw Nederlandsch Biografisch Woordenboek, 10 vols. (Leiden: A. W. Sijhoff's Uitgevers-Maatschappij, 1911–1937) 2:1193–95 (which supplies the date of his marriage to Anna), and Biografisch Lexicon voor de Geschiedenis van het Nederlandse Protestantisme, 6 vols. to date (Kampen: J. H. Kok, 1978–), 2:372–74. extracted by Montias, link Hendrick to his wife, child, and brother-in-law, Wolphert Webber:

- On 8 July 1627 Wolphert Webber appeared before the Orphan Chamber and declared that Jan, 8 years old, the son of Hendrick Hendricksz Coeck and Anna Pinelle, “was slated to receive *f*960 for his mother’s inheritance.”<sup>87</sup>
- “In an act passed before the Orphan Chamber on 21 October 1628, it was stated that a dispute had arisen between, on one side, Wolphert Webber and Jan Selijns, as guardians over Jan Cock, the minor son of Hendrick Cock the elder, procreated by Anne Pinelle, his wife, and, on the other, Lodewijck van Renes, presently married with Anne Pinelle.”<sup>88</sup>

Baptismal records connect Hendrick<sup>2</sup> and Anna to other children of Hendrick<sup>1</sup> Cock and Niesje Selyns. On 17 December 1617 in the Oude Kerk, Amsterdam, Anna “Pinelle” served as a baptismal sponsor to Willem, son of Anna Cock and Wolphert Webber,<sup>89</sup> and when Hendrick Cock and Anna Pinelle had a child, Hendrick, baptized in 1618, the baptismal sponsors were Hans Leenders and Annetjen Cocks, likely Hendrick’s sister, wife of Wolphert Webber.<sup>90</sup>

Known issue of Hendrick<sup>2</sup> Cock and Anna Pinelle, order uncertain:

- i. HEINRIK<sup>3</sup> COCQ [DE PINELLE?], baptized 5 April 1618 in the Oude Kerk, Amsterdam, as son of Heinrik Cock and Annetje Pielli [Pinelli], with sponsors Hans Leenders and Annetjen Cocks.<sup>91</sup> No further record of him has been found, and Montias notes that the records relating to the guardianship of his brother Jan strongly imply that he died young.<sup>92</sup>
- 6 ii. JAN<sup>3</sup> COCQ DE PINELLE, born 1618–19; died after July 1654; married [13?]<sup>93</sup> May 1642 SUSANNA (DE) SANDRA.

THE FAMILY OF HENDRICK COCK OF AMSTERDAM

5. HENDRICK<sup>3</sup> COCK/COCKS (Jan<sup>2</sup>, Hendrick<sup>1</sup>), baptized as “Heijnrich” 21 November 1604 in Amsterdam,<sup>94</sup> was probably alive in 1667 (when, it appears, he served as a baptismal sponsor for his grandson).<sup>95</sup> He was presumably the Hendrick Cock who paid a tax of *f*125 while living in the same house as Wolphert Webber in 1631.<sup>96</sup> On 27 July 1627 the “honorable Maria Cocx,” widow of Hans Lenaertsz, spice merchant, assisted by her sons Lenart Lenartsz and Dirck Lenartsz, as the “only aunt” of Hendrick Jansz Cock, her nephew, “gave her consent to the latter’s marriage with SUSANNA BARENTS/BEUNS, despite the fact that he had not reached majority age, but in the light of his good comportment.”<sup>97</sup> On 13 November 1627 they were formally betrothed to one another, at which time he was accompanied by his guardians, “Walkert” [Wolphert] Webber [husband of Anna Cock], wine dealer, and Jan Selyns, and she by her father, Isaac Beuns, and mother, Susanna van Patre (or Fatre).<sup>98</sup> On 26 July 1632 Hendrick Cock and Susanna Beuns made a joint testament, which provided that Susanna should receive *f*12,000 in the event of her husband’s death. No children are mentioned in Montias’s summary.<sup>99</sup>

The online index for baptisms was examined (Stadsarchief.amsterdam.nl/archieven/archiefbank/indexen/doopregisters/zoek/index.nl.html), and scans of the original register pages were purchased and downloaded. Dirck Hummelingh Jr., child of Dirck Hummelingh and Ursela Cocx, was baptized 20 July 1667 in the Noorderkerk, with sponsors Hendrick Cocx Janse, Johannes Bara, and Angeneta Cocx. In this and other records cited in this article, Hendrick’s patronymic (Janse) was placed after his surname (rather than the customary order of given name, patronymic, surname). Other examples exist in records of the same period, and the practice survived through the nineteenth century. The practice was not standard, and is likely responsible for some errors in the online index to Amsterdam baptisms.

cousin. She was born say 1619–1624 (married in 1642), and died after 10 September 1656, when she served as a baptismal sponsor.<sup>106</sup>

As “Johannes Coccius à Pinelle,” aged twenty, he matriculated as a “student in laws” honoris ergo at the University of Leiden on 15 July 1639.<sup>107</sup> Van Alphen quotes a document calling him “the stepson of Ds. Renesse, named Johannes Cocq de Pinelle, advocate, who holds the office of Librarian and Secretary of the College of the Rector and Professors [at Breda].”<sup>108</sup> He had four children baptized in Leiden between 1643 and 1647, but he seems to have left permanently not long afterward, as the next two (and youngest) children were baptized in Maarssen in 1648 and 1651.<sup>109</sup>

Jan Cocq de Pinelle served (in one case by proxy) as a baptismal sponsor to two of the children of Sieur Hendrick de Sandra (1619–1707), who recorded the ceremonies in an elaborate register.<sup>110</sup> These children were Margaretha Barbara de Sandra, baptized 10 September 1651 in Maarsseveen, Utrecht,<sup>111</sup> and Hendrick Johan de Sandra, baptized 25 July 1654 in Leiden.<sup>112</sup> In the first of the entries Cocq de Pinelle is called a cousin, and in the second a “neef” (usually meaning a nephew). Perhaps the terminological confusion arose as follows: Sieur Hendrick de Sandra’s father, Johan de Sandra, was a son of Johan de Sandra and Susanna de Marez, hence Sieur Hendrick was a first cousin of the wife of Jan Cocq de Pinelle; but Sieur Hendrick’s mother, Maria Fassijn, was a daughter of Johan Fassijn and Anna Lenaerts, sister of Hans Lenaerts, who was uncle-by-marriage to Jan Cocq de Pinelle himself.<sup>113</sup>

9. SUSANNA<sup>4</sup> COCX (Hendrick<sup>3</sup>, Jan<sup>2</sup>, Hendrick<sup>1</sup>) was baptized 21 July 1633 in Maarssen in Utrecht, daughter of Hendrick Cock [mother not named],<sup>155</sup> and was alive in 1663 (baptism of youngest-known child).<sup>156</sup> As Susanna Cocx, aged 20 (possibly overstated), she married 2 November 1649 (banns 7 October) in Amsterdam CORNELIS VAN TEYLINGEN<sup>157</sup> of Amsterdam, who was baptized there 11 November 1627 in the Oude Kerk, and was buried from the same church 16 October 1670.<sup>158</sup> He was the son of Augustijn van Teylingen, apothecary, and Femmetie Barentsdr van Wijhe, and was himself Stads pestapotheker (State Apothecary for the Plague) in 1663.<sup>159</sup> The baptismal sponsorships of their children link them clearly to their parents.

Known issue of Susanna<sup>4</sup> Cocx and Cornelis van Teylingen, all baptized in Amsterdam:

- i. SUSANNA<sup>5</sup> VAN TEYLINGEN, baptized 2 August 1650 in the Oude Kerk, as a child of Cornelis van Teylingen and Susanna Kockx, with sponsors Augestyn van Teylingen and Susanna Kocx [perhaps the mother's mother].<sup>160</sup>
- ii. FEMMETJE<sup>5</sup> VAN TEYLINGEN, baptized 13 September 1651 in the Oude Kerk, as a child of Cornelis van Teylinghe and Susanna Cocx, with sponsors Hendrick Cocx Jans [perhaps the mother's father] and Femmetie Barents van Weyen,<sup>161</sup> alive on 20 April 1714 when, as Femmetje van Teijlingen and Adriaen van Lier, she and her husband served in the Westerkerk as baptismal sponsors to a child of Albert Blauw and Susanna van Lier,<sup>162</sup> residing on the Haarlemmerdijk, Amsterdam, she married (banns 11 November 1672 in Amsterdam) ADRIAEN VAN LIER from 's-Gravenhage, born about 1649, alive in April 1714, son of Isaac van Lier, apothecary.<sup>163</sup> Adriaen van Lier served with an Angenieta Kocks as a sponsor at the baptism of Johannes, son of Johannes Bara and Femma Schepers, in Maarssen on 6 January 1687.<sup>164</sup> Femmetje van Teylingen and Adriaen van Lier had four children baptized in Amsterdam 1673–1680.<sup>165</sup>
- iii. CATHARINA<sup>5</sup> VAN TEYLINGEN, baptized 30 March 1656 in the Oude Kerk, as a child of Cornelis van Teylingen and Susanna Cocq, with sponsors Johannes Bara and Catrina van Teylingen;<sup>166</sup> lived on the Brouwersgracht prior to her burial 12 July 1673 from the Noorderkerk, Amsterdam.<sup>167</sup>

<sup>155</sup> Brouwer-Verheijen, Maarssen, Dopen NG 1620–1812 (note 111), 5. In the absence of a mother's name we cannot be certain the Susanna Cock baptized in 1633 was the Susanna Cocx who was married in 1649, which would make her only 16 at the time; but the known associations of other members of the family with Maarssen makes the connection seem likely.

ADDITIONS AND CORRECTIONS TO ARTICLES IN THE RECORD

Unless attributed, additions and corrections are from the author or the editors.

COCK

142 (2011): 107–16, 195–202 (“The Family of Hendrick Cock of Amsterdam,” by John Blythe Dobson).

In 2004 I published a series of articles on some early Dutch settlers to New Netherland. Part Six of this series gives the children of Hendrick Cock and his wife Niesje Selijs.<sup>1</sup> One of their daughters, Anna, married Wolfert Webber, from Strassburgh. Their son Wolfert Webber emigrated to New Netherland. The other children of Hendrick and Niesje remained in Europe and have no connection with the New World. They are the subject of the article by John Blythe Dobson. He gives us an excellent overview of the European part of the ancestry, on which I would like to add a few comments.

142:112–14. Dobson cited the Amsterdam betrothal record of Justinus de Beijer and Sara<sup>2</sup> Cock. It was also recorded in Nijmegen:<sup>2</sup>

Eerste afkondiging 16 Julij 1609

Attestatie gegeven om te Amsterdam te trouwen op 1 Aug: 1609.

[Justinus de Beijer, young man from Nijmegen, licentiate in both laws, and Sara Coecks, young daughter from Amsterdam.

Witnesses: Hendrick de Beijer, father of the groom, and Jan van den Brouck.

First announcement 16 July 1609

Attest given to marry in Amsterdam on 1 Aug: 1609.]

Their son Hendrick de Beijer was baptized in Nijmegen 15 November 1612, as Hendrick, son of Justinus de Beijer, licentiate, and Sara Cox. Sponsors were Hendrick de Beijer, Jan de Beijer, and Maria Cocx.<sup>3</sup>

142:114 and 196. The betrothal of Susanna Sandra, daughter of Melchisedec Sandra and Sara<sup>2</sup> Cock, was recorded in Leiden 22 April 1642:<sup>4</sup>

Geassisteerd met Joban de Hartoge opte Rijn.

[Johannes Cocq de Pinelle, young man from Maarssen, living Rapenburch, and Miss Susanna Sandra, young daughter, living on the Nieuwen Rijn.]

142:114–16. Anna Pinelli married first Hendrick<sup>2</sup> Cock. She married second Ludovicus Gerardus van Renesse, minister of Maarssen and, later, of Breda. In Breda he was one of the founders and professor in theology of the “Illustere School.”

D. Ludovicus a Renesse, widower of Miss Anna Pinelli, “servant of the Holy Word,” married second in Breda 14 June 1639 (betrothal 28 May 1639) Digna Beens, young daughter from Breda.<sup>5</sup> Digna acted as a baptismal sponsor, as Jff: Digna van Renesse, in Leiden 6 October 1644 of Hendrick, son of Jan Cock de Pinelli and Susanna Sandra.<sup>6</sup> Ludovicus a Renesse, “servant of the Holy Word and professor [of] theology,” married third in Breda 15 August 1663 (betrothal 27 July 1663) Mrs. Adriana van Cuijck, widow of the late Martinus Lijdius.<sup>7</sup>

Hendrick<sup>2</sup> Cock and Anna Pinelli had two sons (order not certain):<sup>8</sup>

- i. JAN<sup>3</sup> COCQ DE PINELLE, born in Maarssen;<sup>9</sup> died in Nijmegen 10 January 1662;<sup>10</sup> married SUSANNA SANDRA. He was a lawyer in Leiden.
- ii. HENDRICK<sup>3</sup> COCQ, baptized 5 April 1618.<sup>11</sup>

Ludovicus Gerardus van Renesse and Anna Pinelli had four children baptized in Maarssen:<sup>12</sup>

- i. FREDERICK JOHANNES VAN RENESSE, baptized 20 June 1624, died, unmarried, in Breda 6 October 1652.<sup>13</sup>
- ii. CONSTANT DANIEL VAN RENESSE, baptized 12 December 1626; married in Breda 29 April 1654 CHRISTINA DRABBE,<sup>14</sup> from Bergen op Zoom, only daughter of <sup>8</sup> While Dutch naming tradition would suggest Hendrick would have been the first-born, there are many examples in which it was not followed. In this special case Anna Pinelli was not Dutch.

Dobson writes (RECORD 142:115) that Hendrick claimed to believe that Anna was pregnant. They married in January 1617, and if Anna was pregnant indeed, the child must have been born in 1617.

If the text of Jan's betrothal in Leiden is correct (calling him “van” Maarssen, which normally in this context means “born”), then his parents went there first, coming from Switzerland to Maarssen, where Jan was born. After that they evidently moved to Amsterdam where his brother was baptized.

<sup>10</sup> Collectie families Van Renesse en Rooijaards, Collectienummer A-0178, Regionaal Historisch Centrum Eindhoven, “leaving a wife and three children.” Record of Jan's burial was not found in Nijmegen, and this source does not indicate that he actually lived there. Thus it is possible that he was buried elsewhere.

- iii. CAREL HENRICK VAN RENESSE, baptized 11 January 1629; married in Breda 30 January 1656 CORNELIA ABRAHAMSDR KEGELAERS.<sup>16</sup> Carel had an illegitimate daughter, Catharina, born in Rotterdam 2 August 1653, with MAERTGE WILLEMS.<sup>17</sup>
- iv. CONSTANTIA MARGRETA VAN RENESSE, baptized 11 January 1629, twin of Carel Henrick; married in Breda 11 February 1660 ADRIAAN FRANÇOISZN BEENS.<sup>18</sup>

142:195–96. Hendrick<sup>3</sup> Cock and Susanna Buens<sup>19</sup> had five children baptized in Amsterdam and one in Maarssen. The child baptized 21 July 1633 in Maarssen was Sara, not Susanna as stated in the article. Susanna was baptized in Amsterdam in the Oude Kerk 22 August 1627.<sup>20</sup>

- i. AGNETA<sup>4</sup> COCK, baptized in Amsterdam in the Oude Kerk 12 April 1626;<sup>22</sup> married JOHANNES BARRA.
- ii. SUSANNA<sup>4</sup> COCK, baptized in Amsterdam in the Oude Kerk 22 August 1627;<sup>23</sup> married CORNELIS TEIJLINGEN.
- iii. URSULA<sup>4</sup> COCK, baptized in Amsterdam in the Nieuwe Kerk 26 August 1631; married first NICOLAAS SPAEROOGH; married second DIRCK HUMMELINGH; married third CASPER RISSELIJN.
- iv. SARA<sup>4</sup> COCK, baptized in Maarsen 21 July 1633.
- v. HENDRICK PETRIJ<sup>4</sup> COCK, baptized in Amsterdam in the Oude Kerk 1 January 1640.
- vi. ANNA<sup>4</sup> COCK, baptized in Amsterdam in the Noorderkerk 14 May 1643.

142:198. In note 118 Dobson is suggesting that the 5 November 1645 sponsor Hester Sengwerdius is the great-granddaughter of Anna Cock and Wolphert Webber. That is not possible because their great-granddaughter Hester (daughter of Wolfert Arnolduszn Senguerdus and Elisabeth Adriaansdr van der Does) was born in 1669. The sponsor is more likely Hester Wolfertsdr Webber, wife of professor Arnoldus Senguerdus.<sup>24</sup>

142:198. The sponsors of the Maarssen baptisms of Melchizedeck Cocq de Pinelle (17 July 1648) and Henricus Cocq De Pinelle (27 January 1651) are given as Peter J. Beier and Peter Heer Besodt, suggesting that “Peter” is a given name here. This is not correct. “Peter” is meant here as the Dutch word for “sponsor.”

142:198–99. Regarding Jacobus de Barra, from Antwerp, medical doctor first in Middelburg and then in Amsterdam: Jacobus Barra married first in Amsterdam (marriage intention 3 May 1611) Sara Moijes,<sup>25</sup> with whom he had at least six children.<sup>26</sup> He married second, as widower of Sara Mois, in Amsterdam (marriage intention 2 October 1621) Margrietje Tulkschaep, widow of Hendrik Geens.<sup>27</sup> Johannes de Barra who married Agneta Cock was a son of his second marriage. Johannes’s half-sister Judith Barra, a daughter of the first marriage, married in Amsterdam (marriage intention 21 May 1641) Carel Dirckszn Reijniers.<sup>28</sup> Carel Reijnders was a sponsor at the baptism of Johannes’s daughter Judith de Barra.
